'Magnificent Seven' to Climb Kilimanjaro

The Achilles Track Club recently introduced a team of seven disabled athletes who are climbing Mount Kilimanjaro in Tanzania, Africa. The team consists of five blind people, one cancer survivor/arm amputee and one deaf asthmatic. Eighteen volunteer guides will accompany the group and assist in their climb. They range in age from 19 years to 56 years old, have various athletic abilities and come from all types of ethnic and social backgrounds.
