

Fundraising Race To Take Place in Central Park

The Achilles Track Club's Second Annual Hope and Possibility Run/Walk will take place on Aug. 1 in Central Park.

The Achilles Race is a fundraiser therefore participants are expected to request sponsorship for the race. The Achilles Track Club charges a $20 registration fee for the race, however, they will waive the fee for all people who have disabilities.

Trish Meili, board chair of the Achilles Track Club and victim of a 1989 attack in Central Park, wrote a book about her recovery entitled "I am the Central Park Jogger: A Story of Hope and Possibility." Meili will do a book sale and signing.

After the race refreshments will be provided and a prize will be awarded to the participant who raises the most money.

On July 30, packets will be distributed, which include a free Achilles t-shirt, the entrant's race number, timer chip, power bar and other goodies.

Anyone wishing to participate as a runner, walker or wheelchair racer may contact Charlene Bang, atcbang@icd-rehab.org or 212 585-6251 to get an application and a pledge form.
