Hope and Possibility in Central Park

Wheelchair racers move through Central Park, in June, at the Seventh Annual Achilles Track Club's Hope and Possibility 5-Mile Run/Walk. This day brings together athletes with disabilities and able-bodied athletes. The event included music, raffles, disability awareness activities and cash prizes. In inset photo, New York City Police Det. Steven McDonald speaks with Trisha Meili, author of, "I Am The Central Park Jogger: A Story of Hope and Possibility."
